“Darden is uniquely positioned to make a meaningful impact in the movement to end hunger,” said Rick Cardenas, President and CEO of Darden Restaurants. “Through our ongoing partnership with Feeding America and our Harvest food donation program, we leverage our resources to help combat food insecurity, ensuring nutritious meals reach families who need them most.”

The Need

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports that 13.5% of households experienced food insecurity in 2023, an increase from 12.8% in 2022. Consequently, the USDA estimates that approximately 47 million people in the U.S. face hunger. Ensuring food banks have reliable transportation is essential, as it directly impacts their ability to deliver food efficiently and prevent waste.

“Hunger exists in every zip code in the U.S., and it can affect anyone. Basic costs like housing – or an unexpected expense – are breaking budgets across the country,” said Claire Babineaux-Fontenot, CEO of Feeding America. “We are deeply grateful for the continued partnership with Darden and Penske. Their support helps strengthen our efforts to ensure food reaches communities where it is needed most and to enable food banks to share fresh, healthy food like produce and dairy with people facing hunger.”

Responding to the Need

For 14 years, Darden and the Darden Restaurants, Inc. Foundation have worked with Feeding America to tackle food insecurity. Since January 2021, this partnership has delivered 45 refrigerated trucks and operational funding to 45 food banks across 21 states.

Simultaneously, Darden’s Harvest food donation program has been serving communities for over two decades by channeling surplus, nutritious food from its restaurants to local nonprofits. With food waste being a major issue in the U.S., where 92 billion pounds of food are discarded annually, Darden’s efforts are crucial. Over this period, Darden has donated more than 140 million pounds of food, translating to over 118 million meals* for people experiencing hunger, helping to reduce the impact of food waste and supporting individuals across the country.

*According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), one meal is equal to 1.2 pounds of food.
